REPORT

Section of the Manuscript	Comments and Notes
Title- Abstract- Summary	The author needs to relook at the title. The term Learning Based Environment is not consistent with the similar term throughout the article as well as what is normally used in the literature which is Environment Based Learning. The content in the abstract is satisfactory. To improve, the author can add a brief introduction.
Introduction and Literature Review	1. There are some terms in the introduction which are not clearly explain for example 'managers'. Who are the managers? Are they the school principals? Or an administrators than in seconded from outside? 2. The literature review needs to focus on how an environment-based educational approach

	specifically the educators use the local community and environment to teach all subjects in a way that is meaningful and relevant. 3. The author should discuss findings from previous studies and how these findings can contribute to the study.
Research Methods	The method section is insufficient. The author should add EBL theory for instance integrating an outdoor inquiry-based education model in the study. The data collection should be explicated even further. This goes to how analysis is done. Currently, the analysis of the study is not clear. There are also many items in the section that are not clear. For example: what is the meaning of 'object' in the study? Is that the term used in EBL? What are objects, sub-objects and indicators? The main concern is the missing data from classroom instruction since this is the main focus as stated in the title.
Research Findings	The findings section should be re-written. Currently, the findings do not reflect how the multicultural has influenced the instruction in classroom learning based on the in-depth interview, observation etc. Readers would expect anecdotes from the subjects that would support your theme(s) or findings. What about the analysis from the documentation?
Discussion	The main issue of the discussion section is that several findings which are not presented in the findings section are discussed here. It is also lacking in cross-referencing with previous studies and also the 'voice' of the author.
Conclusion and Suggestions	The conclusion is not only to synthesize the findings but also to present implications of those findings. Since EBL is a rather new concept, what are theoretical implications? Pedagogical implications?
References and Citation	The author needs to check the format when citing previous studies. Please check the formatting of references as well.
Language	The article needs to be edited focusing on the structure of sentence, grammatical errors. The author should pay more attention to the presentation of ideas as well.
Other issues	On the whole, the article does not reflect the title which is looking at how EBL is influenced by the community. The focus on instruction in classroom or teaching and learning as a whole is greatly needed.
